• About Company	McKinley Rice, a Global Meta-Company is the next evolutionary step in globalization. Spiritually, we're a community where people and companies come together to do their best work. And organizationally, we're a company composed of many other companies, hence the name. Diverse companies and employees share one infrastructure, inside which direct employer-employee relationships are formed with each other. It's like how apartments provide a safe, common infrastructure while being composed of many different households. We do the same thing, but for global work.
